Dear Mr. Hemminger,

Frank Conrad,

Edison Medallist, is gone (N.Y. Times today).

If you can resurrect the original MS
of my story when he got the Medal I think you will find answer to the question What was in the boy who began in Westing House
by running a lathe that developed into distinction?

I wondered, I asked him,
I got an answer.

The essence of the story - as I recall - was not printed;
possibly it would be of interest now. I may talk with you on Monday

Yrs
Hastings
